Driving

The Mountain is located on NC 106/GA 246 (Dillard Road) and is 4 miles southwest of Highlands, NC. Other highways into Highlands are scenic but also more curvy and difficult in bad weather. Our recommended route is from Dillard, GA. At the Dillard traffic light (Chevron Station/Holiday Inn Xpress), turn east from US 23/441 onto GA Hwy 246 (NC 106). Note the mileage on your odometer: Our entrance is 10 miles on the right from the Dillard stoplight. If you spot the Lick Log Mill on your left, you are close; the entrance is just over the next big hill. Watch for our large sign with a copper bird on top. Please plan to arrive during daylight, especially if this is your first visit. Mountain roads can be confusing after dark and it's hard to find a phone. Once you turn off NC 106, access to "the summit" is via a one-lane 2-way paved road with 6 hairpin turns. Please obey the posted 10 mph speed limit and keep to the outside of all turns for increased visibility. Vehicles over 20 feet in length should not attempt the grade; let us know from Dillard or Highlands and we'll have someone meet you at the base parking area, just a short way in from the entrance.

From Asheville/Knoxville: Take I-40 West from Asheville (1½ - 2 hrs.) Or East from Knoxville (3 hrs.) to Exit 27 at Clyde, NC. Follow US 23/441 South to Dillard, GA. You will turn left at the Dillard stoplight.

From Atlanta: Take I-85 North to I-985 North which later becomes US 23/GA 365 and becomes 23/441. Follow 23/441 North to Dillard. (2½ - 3 hrs. depending on traffic)
